GIRLS ARRESTED ON "L" TO SUE ROAD BOY VANISHED WITH GIRCUS.

Magistrate Dismisses Charge of Disorderly Conduct Against Them.

THEIR ESCORTS ESCAPE.

Young Couples Were Singing, Dancing and Raising High Jinks on the Car.

Employees of the Interborough Comny took a step in the direction of codiumism on "L" trains last night by causing the arrest of three respectable young girls. The girls were discharged in Centre Street Court to-day and will institute damage suits against the company.

Bessle and Annie Burns, of No. 23 Washington street, and Lillie Burke, of No. 18 Washington street, went upown yesterday afternoon to wander about among the crowds. They boarded a south-bound train at Sixth avenu and Forty-second street when they got ready to go home in the evening, enter

In this car there were a dozen of more young men full of Thanksgiving heer and song. They delivered themselves of the song so vociferously that the conductor asked them to keep quiet That settled it with the bearers of good cheer and by the time the Twenty eighth street station was reached they were doing things to the car.

The motorman blew his whistle and three policemen boarded the train at Wwenty-third street, riding to Fourteenth street and keeping order. After they departed the disturbance began egain, and at Cortlandt street station the motorman whistled for help again Policeman Cohen, of the Church street tation, responded.

When he got to the train Inspector Thomas M. Smith was in charge, and demanded that he arrest the girls. They were bailed out later by a friend in the First Ward.

When the girls were arraigned in the police court to-day the conductor and motorman testified against them. But neither could honestly say that he had en the girls do a disorderly thing Pinned down to the basis of his accusations, the conductor finally said that all he had seen the girls do was encourage the disorderly young man. "Yes," he added, "and one of them old me that if they had me down in their neighborhood there wouldn't be a grease spot left of me."

"But what became of these disorderly young men on the train?" asked Magistrate Whitman. "Why didn't you carnest employees have some of them arrested?"
